A QUAKER DETECTIVE.

We were five passengers in all—two ladies on the back seat, and a middle aged gentleman and a Quaker on the middle, and myself in front.

The two ladies might have been mother and daughter, aunt and niece, governess and charge, or might have sustained any other relationship which made it proper for the two to travel together unattended.

The middle-aged gentleman was sprightly and talkative. He soons truck up an acquaintance with the ladies, toward whom in his zeal to do he rather overdid the agreeable—bowing and smiling, and chatting over his shoulder in a way painfully suggestive at this time of life, of a crick in the back. He was evidently a gay Lothario.

The Quaker wore the uniform of his sect, and confined his speech, as many a parliamentarian would save his credit by doing, to simply yeas and nays. As for myself, I make it an invariable rule of the road to be merely a looker on and listener.

Toward evening I was aroused from one of those reveries into which a young man, without being a poet or a lover, will sometimes fall, by an abrupt query from the talkative gentleman:

"Are you armed, sir?"

"I am not," I answered, astonished, no doubt, visibly at the question.

"I am sorry to hear it," he replied; "for before reaching our next stopping place it will be several hours in the night, and we must pass over a portion of the road on which more than one robbery is reported to have been committed."

The ladies turned pale, but the stranger did his best to re-assure them.

"Not that I think there is the slightest danger at present," he resumed, "only when one is responsible for the safety of the ladies, you know such a thing as a pistol in reach would add materially to one's confidence."

"Your principles, my friend," addressing the Quakes, "I presume, are as much opposed to carrying as using carnal weapons?"

"Yes," was the response.

"Have the villains murdered any of their victims?" the elderly lady nervously inquired.

"Or have they contented themselves with—with plundering them?" added the younger in a tremulous voice.

"Decidedly the latter," the amiable gentleman hastened to give assurance: "and we are none of us prepared to offer resistance in case of attack, so nothing worse than robbery can possibly befall us."

Then, after blaming his thoughtlessness in having unnecessarily introduced a disagreeable subject, the gentleman quite excelled himself in efforts to raise the spirits of the company, and had succeeded so well by the time night had set in that all had quite forgotten or only remembered their fears to laugh at them.

Our genial companion fairly talked himself hoarse. Perceiving which, he took from his pocket a box of newly invented cough candy, and after passing it to the ladies, he helped himself to the balance and tossed the paper out of the window.

He was in the midst of a high encomium of the new nostrum, more than half the efficacy of which he insisted depended on its being taken by suction, when a shrill whistle was heard, and almost immediately the coach stopped while two faces hideously blackened, presented themselves, one at each window.

"Sorry to trouble you," said the man on the right, acknowledging with a bow, two lady-like screams from the back seat, "but business is business, and ours will soon be over if things go smoothly."

"Of course, gentlemen, you will spare, as far as may be consistent with your disagreeable duty, the feelings of these ladies," appealed the polite passenger in his blandest manner.

"Oh, certainly! they shall first be attended to, and shall not be required to leave their seats, unless their conduct renders it necessary.

"And now, ladies," continued the robber, the barrel of his pistol glittering in the light of the coach lamp, "be so good as to pass your purses, watches, and such other trinkets as may be accessible without much trouble."

The ladies came down handsomely, and were no further molested.

One by one the rest got out. The middle aged gentleman's turn came first. He submitted with a winning grace, and was robbed like a Chesterfield.

My own affairs, like the sum I lost, are scarcely worth mentioning.

The Quaker's word is good, even among thieves; so after a hasty good night the robber thrust his pistol into his pocket and with his two companions, one of whom held the reins of the leaders, was about starting.

"Stop!" exclaimed the Quaker, in a tone more of command than of request.

"Stop! What for?" returned the other, in evident surprise

"For at least two reasons," was the reply, emphasized with a couple of Derringers cocked and presented.

"Help!" shouted the robber.

"Stop!" exclaimed the Quaker. "And if any one of your sinful companions advance a step to thy relief, the spirit will surely move me to blow thy brains out."

The robber at the opposite window and the one at the leader's head tho't it a good time to leave.

"Now, get in, friend," said the Quaker, still covering his man, "and take the middle seat, but first deliver up thy pistol."

The other hesitated.

"Thee had better not delay; I feel the spirit move my forefinger."

The robber did as he was directed, and the Quaker took his place by his side, giving the new comer the middle seat.

The driver, who was frightened out of his wits, now set forword at a lively rate. The talkative gentleman soon recovered his vivacity. He was especially facetious on the Quaker's prowess

"You're a rum Quaker, you are. Why, you don't quake worth a cent."

"I'm not a shaking Quaker, if that's what thee means."

"Of the Hickory, or rather the Old Hickory stripe, I should say," retorted the lively man. But the Quaker relapsing into his usual monosyllables, the conversation flagged.

Sooner than we expected the coach stopped where we were to have supper and a change of horses. We had deferred a re-distribution of our effects until we should reach the place, as the dim light of the coach lamp would have rendered the process somewhat difficult.

It was now necessary it should be attended to at once, as our jovial companion had previously announced his intention of leaving us at this point He proposed a postponement until after supper, which he had offered to go and order.

"Nay," urged the Quaker, with an approach to abruptness, and laying his hand on the other's arm, "business before pleasure, and for business there is no time like the present."

"Will thee be good enough to search the prisoner?" he said to the men, still keeping his hand in a friendly way up on the passenger's arm.

I did so but none of the stolen articles could be found.

"He must have got rid of them in the coach," the gay gentleman suggested, and immediately offered to go in search.

"Stop!" thundered the Quaker, tightening his grasp.

The man turned pale and struggled to release his arm. In an instant one of the Derringers was leveled at his heart.

"Stir hand or foot and you are a dead man!"

The Quaker must have been awfully excited so completely to forget both the language and principles of his persuasion.

Placing the other pistol in my hand with directions to fire at either of the two men that made a suspicious movement, he went to work on the Lothario, from whose pocket, in less time than it takes to tell it, he produced every item of the missing property to the utter amazement of the two ladies, who had begun in no measured terms to remonstrate against the shameful treatment the gentleman was receiving.

The Quaker, I need scarcely add, was no Quaker at all, but a shrewd detective, who had been set on the track of a band of desperadoes, of whom our middle-aged friend—who didn't look so middle aged when his wig was off—was the chief. The robbery had been adroitly planned. The leader of the gang had taken passage in the coach, and after learning, as he supposed, our defenseless condition, had given the signal to his companions by throwing out the scrap of paper already mentioned. After the unexpected capture of the first robber, it was attempted to save the booty by secretly passing it to the accomplice, still believed to be unsuspected, who counted on being able to make off at the next stopping place.

The result was that both, for a season did the state some service.

THE BATTLE OF THE ANTS.

A country correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes:

I am a pedagogue in the rural districts of Newton county, Missouri, and my schoolhouse has been infested for several months by a species of large black ant, much to the annoyance of my little bare-footed scholars, and there seemed to be no way of getting rid of the pests. But what was my astonishment a few mornings since, on coming to my school house to find the floor literally strewn with dead ants, and upon closer examination, to find that a desperate battle was then raging among them, more sanguinary and fatal than any I ever witnessed (and I saw many a hard fought battle during the late unpleasantness,) or read in the annals of history.

A much larger number were lying dead than were left engaged, and I thereby concluded that the battle had raged all night. Most of the combatants engaged were grappled in a deadly embrace, while others but recently commenced were standing on their hind legs, striving for the advantage with all the science of the most experienced swordsmen or pugilists. The most fatal point of attack, and for which it seemed all contended was the ligament which joined the main body to the head. This vital member once seized by the powerful nippers, death succeeded without a struggle, and the victor was then ready and eager for another engagement. No undue advantage was taken by either party, and no two would endeavor to overpower a single one, nor was there any flinching or wavering in a single instance; for, whenever two billigerents met, it was death to one or both. Never, perhaps, were two armies more equally matched in numbers, strength and valor; and consequently at the close of the battle, which lasted two nights and a day, as new recruits arrived every moment, there were but few left, and probably none of the vanquished army, thus rivaling the valor of the Alamo and the Spartan band of Leonidas.

Observing the appearance of the contestants closely, I could see but a slight difference in them, one set being perfectly black, with a large head, while the other was nearer brown, with a smaller head, though each was about equally matched in size and strength. Dismembered legs were numerous, and many an unfortunate though valiant hero, being entirely deprived of his supporters, was thus left, hors de combat to die on the field. Next morning I swept up the dead and, the dying of both armies, (for I did not disturb them while engaged,) amounting to thousands.

WHAT WE OWE THE MECHANIC.

To nothing are we so much indebted for the improved condition, increased comforts, and elevation of mind and intellect among all civilized people, as to the discoveries, inventions and improvements in the mechanical art.

Since the days of Watt, Bolton and Arkwright, all the great improvements affecting the condition of the different orders and ranks in society owe their origin or have been made practicable only by the introduction and use of machinery as aids to human industry.

In "the good old times" those who, by hereditary rights or by superior prowess, assumed or usurped the right to rule over the great laboring masses, were content to have their wants supplied, whether of courtly display and extravagence, or of predatory warfare upon their rivals, without a thought or care as to the amount or kind of labor required for gratifying the demands of their pride and ambition.

The tillers of the soil, the artisan, and the manufacturer, all upon a common level, were regarded as mere serfs, useful only as producers of what was required by the higher order.

Labor saving machinery has changed all this. It has been the great elevating and equalizing agency of modern times, and made it possible for the mechanic and the laborer to supply his wants and to surround himself with comforts, conveniences and luxuries unknown in former times to even the very highest order. He is no longer the serf or the dependent of other ranks, compelled to devote his life, subject to their will, in ministering to the wants of others, for the mere right of existence for himself.

All this we owe to the mechanical arts. The great movement in this direction is still going on at constantly accelerated ratio. One improvement only stimulates to another: a comfort or luxury for to-day is a necessity for to-morrow; one improvement or advance secures the means and opportunity for still further triumphs.

The mechanic of to-day is not defined, as he once was by a literary lion of of the old aristocratic court circles, as "a low mean fellow." He may if he improves his opportunities be the peer of men in any rank or profession.

A BURIED ANCIENT TOWN DISCOVERED.—The Portland (Oregon) Herald of the 26th ult., says:

Travellers from Monticello to Olympia all have noticed the singular formation of the ground in what is known as Mound Prairie. There is a large mound—say 300 feet high and 300 yards in diameter at the base—at the southern end of the prairie, about twenty-five miles from Olympia, and scattered over the prairie for a distance of fifteen miles are many smaller mounds, not more than four feet high and twenty or thirty in diameter. Many conjectures have been made for the last twenty years as to what could have caused so singular a formation, but no one has ever been curious enough till within the last few days to make any examination of the interior of the mounds. A few days ago one of the engineers of the North Pacific railroad opened one of them and found the remains of pottery, and a more thorough examination of others revealed other curious relics, evidently the work of human hands; in fact, in every mound that has been opened there is some curious relic of a long forgotten race discovered. The theory now is that this prairie was the cemetery of the people who inhabited this country in ante-historic times. Specimens of the pottery have been sent to Professor Agassiz, and it is expected that he will make a visit to the place and make a thorough examination personally.

A man in Illinois has patented an iron shingle roof. The shingles are about six by thirteen inches, lap each other so as to insure a water-proof, and are fastened by headless nails. The patent is said to be less expensive than slate.

HOW BIRDS SAVE APPLES.

Did you ever eat a wormy apple at the core of which you found a little light-colored larva or grub? That larva is hatched from a minute egg which was laid by a moth miller in the calyx or blossom end of the young apple. These millers appear in large numbers in fruit orchards about the time apple trees put on their roseate bloom. In some instances they glue the egg to the side of the apple, or in the cavity at the stem-end. Immediately after the larva is hatched, it commences boring towards the core of the fruit. In most instances the apple will be so injured by the larva, that it will fall to the ground. Sometimes the depredator bores his way out of the the fruit, and lets himself down by means of a silken cord which he spins while descending. If birds of any sort are near, they will devour these delicate tit bits with avidity. But if not destroyed, such larva crawl around until they find a place protected from storm, where they weave cocoons around themselves, and enter the pupa state. There are two varieties of this moth-worm, one of which remains in the pupa state from mid-summer until the next spring, when it emerges from the cocoon with wings, to deposit its eggs in the basin of the apple, while the other passes through the various transformations twice during the year, so as to be ready to destroy the late fruit as well as early. If swine or sheep devour the fallen fruit before the larva leaves it, the winged moth miller must appear in the next season, if at all, from some other source. If birds consume them, of course no miller can ever spread their wings from crusted larva. There are also several varieties of birds that are incessantly searching for minute grubs and borers in the bark of fruit trees. Eggs from which the borers spring are deposited just in the edge of the parenchyma, the second layer of the bark; and as soon as the minute borer is large enough to commence operations birds perceive them, and take them out with their sharp bills.

HOW THEY LIVE IN SWEEDEN.

The houses are warm, being built of strong, thick walls, generally of brick, with high stone foundations. They are small, commonly of one story, and meant for but one family. Their houses are not so very simple, but they are simply furnished, there often being, especially in the northern part, where the houses are frequently logs, and covered with turf or straw, no more than one room in the house, and in that only the coarsest home made furniture. The sleeping room, (there is rarely more than one), is provided with ranges of beds in tiers, one above the other, the women generally sleeping below, and the men above. You rarely see any carpet, but the floors are sprinkled with a clean white sand, which dries up moisture, gives off no dust, and may easily be removed. Sometimes the floors, as in Germany, are painted, or of wood mosaic; though this luxury, except in large mansions, is rarely indulged in. Occasionally the best rooms will have a little carpet; but never more than two strips, which cross each other in the centre.

The land is generally good, and four-fifths of all the people subsist by agriculture. Great quantities of wheat, rye and barley are raised, the stubble fields being now seen stretching out in every direction. Much of this grain is exported to Germany and great Britain. Large droves of cattle, sheep geese and ducks may also be seen in the fields, though the stock is far inferior to that of Denmark, where it was a real pleasure to see the magnificent droves pastures. The cattle and poultry are commonly kept in the same field, the ducks and geese being around the ponds, while the sheep and cows are scattered through the meadows, a shepard boy commonly sleeping in some fence corner. In the evening these flocks are all driven to the barnyard, where they present a lively scene for a few hours after sunset. I spent a little time at the country residence of a large land-owner in this neighborhood, where the noise of ducks and geese in his barn yard was like a perpetual horse-fiddle serenade.

ALL HANDS BELOW.

A good story is told of a parrot who had always lived on board a ship, but who escaped at one of the southern ports and took refuge in a church. Soon afterward the congregation assembled, and the minister began preaching to them in his earnest fashion, saying there was no virtue in them, that every one of them would go to hell unless they speedily repented. Just as he spoke the sentence, up spoke the parrot from his hiding place:

"All hands below!"

To say that all hands were startled, would be a mild way of putting it. The peculiar voice and unknown source had much more effect on them than the parson's voice ever had. He waited a moment, and then, a shade or two palar, he repeated the warning.

"All hands below!" again rang out from somewhere.

The preached started from the pulpit, and looked anxiously around, inquiring if anybody had spoken.

"All hands below!" was the only reply, at which the entire panic stricken congregation got up, and a moment after they all bolted for the doors, the preacher trying his best to be the first, and during the time the mischievous bird kept up his yelling:

"All hands below!"

There was one old woman there who was lame, and could not get out so fast as the rest, and in a short time she was left entirely alone. Just as she was about to hobble out, the parrot flew down, and alighting on her shoulder, again yelled in her ear:

"All hands below!"

"No, no Mister Davil!" shrieked the old woman, "you can't mean me, I don't belong here. I go to the other church across the way."—New Orleans Christian Advocate.

A BRAVE TEMPERANCE MAN.

Twenty years ago a young man went to Washington with a petition to congress from the people of old Massachusetts. While in that city he was invited to dine with the celebrated John Quincy Adams.

Many great men sat at the table. The young man has been poor, and was then only a mechanic in moderate circumstances. During dinner Mr. Adams said to him:

"Will you drink a glass of wine with me, sir?"

The young man was a temperance man. But the eyes of many greater than him were upon him. They were all wine drinkers, and it was no small matter to decline such a request from his venerable host. No wonder the young man was embarrassed, that he blushed and hesitated. It was a critical moment for him. But he was a true man. He had real manhood, and he stammered:

"Sir, I never take wine."

Noble said young man! Massachusetts heard that answer, and understood it. She saw in Henry Wilson a man who could be trusted, and she made him one of her senators. To-day as for several years past, he has been known as senator Wilson. God bless him! May our readers follow his example and, however and by whomsoever tempted, stick to their principles —Parish Visitor.

NO NEED TO BE UNCIVIL.

The following incident is given in the late Dr. Norman McLeod's story of "Wee Davie." The good doctor had bitter experience, at one period of his life, of an opposite spirit from that which the story illustrates:

Johnnie Morton and auld Andrew Gebbie, the first a 'keen Burgher,' and the latter an 'anti-Burgher,' lived at different ends of the same house. "and it was the bargain that each should keep his ain side o' the house aye well thatched," but they happened to dispute so keenly about the principles o' their kirks, that at last they quarreled and dinna speak at a'! So ane day they were on the roof thatching, each on his ain side, they reached the tap, and, looking ower, face met face. What could they do? They couldn't flee. So at last, Andrew took off his Kilmarnock cap, and stretching his head, said:

"Johnnie, you and me, I think, has been very foolish to dispute as we hae done concerning Christ's will about our kirks, until we hae clean forgot His will about ourselves; and so we hae fought so bitterly for what we ca' the truth, that it has ended in spite. Whatever's wrang, it's perfectly certain that it can never be right to be uncivil, unneighberly and unkind, in fac tae hate ane anither. Na, na, that's the devil's wark an na God's. Noo, it strikes me that, may be, it's wi the kirk as wi this house. Ye're working on ane side an me an t'ither, but, if we only do our work well we will meet at the tap at last. Gie's you han', auld neighbor."

And so they shook han's and were best o' freens ever after.

LAFFTER.

There is a great difference in people about laffing. A 1st class laffer gets rite down on his muscle till his face is black and blue, and his eyes stick out like a cat's when the hired girl takes it from the pantry shelf by the neck.

Some folks laff as though they'd got a bone in the throat, and swallowed a lot of crusts to make it go down, and it wouldn't go, nor the crust either. These are slim cusses and look as though they'd just come from their own funerals.

Fat men are the heartiest laffers. They go at it as though they had an army contract on hand. When a fat man commences to laff, there is a general stoppage of business, and small children go home to their mothers.

At first there is a rumbling sound like the premonitory symptoms of an earthquake. When the commotion gets up as high as the lowest button on the waistcoat, a slight trembling of the earth is perceptible. The shoulders work up and down—the head is thrown back as far as the short neck will allow. The eyes are watery—the mouth makes a hissing like the sound of steam of an engine. Presently there is a terrific explosion, and the storm is over. Then the laffer takes out a red silk handkerchief, wipes the perspiration from his forehead, and blows his nose three times; business is resumed, and the little boys look boldly out of the chamber window.

Women laff a good deal, but they have so many ways of doing it, one can't give a good description.

An old agricultural laborer in England tried a singular method of evangelizing his family. Being remonstrated with by the pastor for not 'bringing up' his boys as he should, he replied: "I dunna 'ow 'tis sir: I order 'em down to pray night and morning, and when they won't go down, I knocks 'em down—and yet they ain't good!"

The other day, an excited individual accosted a street gamin with the question: "Say, bub, which is the quickest way for me to get to the railroad depot?"—"Run." was the laconic response.

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, November 6.

According to appointment a torch-light procession, preceded by the Massillon Silver Band, composed of the Grant Club of this city, took place on last Friday evening. The boys made a fine appearance, and although they were not all out some two hundred—including a company of Youngstown men—paraded through the streets. While this was transpiring the opera house was lighted up, where a large number of people congregated, and into which the procession marched, filling the building to its capacity, for the purpose of listening to a speech by Hon. Alphonso Hart. Hon. Kent Jarvis presided, and introduced the speaker by a few well timed and appropriate remarks. The time being limited Mr. Hart immediately proceeded to discuss the issues pending, which were to be decided yesterday, in his usually able and masterly manner, enchaining the undivided attention of the great congregation all the time he was speaking. His presentation of the case was so plain, candid, fair, and we think truthful, that frequent and enthusiastic responses were made, which indicated that the people were ready to subscribe to all he said. Among public speakers on political questions Mr Hart deservedly occupies a high position, and wherever he goes elicits the praise of every true union man and woman. A large number of ladies were present. W. G. Myers, Esq., of Fulton made the concluding address, and sustained his position by brief, urgent and appropriate remarks.

An item appears in some of the papers to the effect that a synod of ministers, don't recollect what church, somewhere in Iowa, lately adopted a resolution reproving the state legislature for enacting a law abolishing capital punishment, and recommending that petitions be circulated asking that hanging be restored—alleging as a reason that crime has increased in consequence of this abolition of the death penalty. Some of the churches may be disposed to favor this relict of barbarism, but we hope the intelligence of the age is too far advanced to re-enact the old theory, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. It is time this idea was discarded, especially so far as laws are concerned, by all civilized people.

That horse distemper—epizooty is the big name—which has lately made its appearance in this country, and which has caused the death of a great many horses, and is yet spreading into new parts of the land, is reported not so severe at New York—is abating there. But horse power has generally gone out of use. At Boston they are using oxen for hauling stree cars and for other purposes, and sometimes men draw them from place to place. It is a good time for hand carts. If people can't get along without street cars the steam engine might as well come into use—nothing but prejudice keeps it out.

On last Wednesday Mrs. Greeley, wife of Horace Greeley, of New York, died, after suffering as an invalid for many years.

It has been decided by the proper tribunal, King William of Prussia, that San Juan, which the British government has been claiming so long, is the property of the United States. Many people who are not very old will remember that when the Democracy were in power years ago, they were going to have that strip of land, and their motto was plifty plour plenty, or phight, but came down at the building of John Bull to the forty-ninth degree. Grant has fixed the matter all right, and no bluster about it.

TO THE MANUFACTURERS OF AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

GENTLEMEN:

At a meeting of the National Association of Agricultural Implement Manufacturers, held on the 15th and 16th days of October, 1872, at Cleveland, Ohio, the undersigned were appointed a committee to address you on behalf of the association, giving you a brief outline of its organization and objects, and extending to you a cordial invitation to become members of the same.

It must be admitted by all that many evils exist in the present system of selling implements which should, and we think could, be remedied by concert of action and a better understanding among manufacturers themselves.

With this idea in view, a number of manufacturers from different parts of the country, held a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, on the 10th of September, and after consultation decided to form a National Association, and at an adjourned meeting held September 11th, a temporary organization was effected, and a call issued through the press and by circulars for a convention to meet for permanent organization at Cleveland on the 15th of October.

The convention met at the time agreed upon, and effected a permanent organization by adopting a constitution and by-laws. A large number of manufacturers from different states were present, and the corresponding secretary laid before the convention over fifty letters from manufacturers, who were unable to attend, all expressing a hearty sympathy with the objects of the call and a willingness to co-operate.

The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed, and by comparing notes it was found that most of the evils complained of were common to all classes of agricultural implement manufacturers, such as the practice of sending out implements indiscriminately on commission, giving ruinously long credits, and in some classes of goods a reckless over production, necessarily causing cutting in prices and a departure from well-established business principles.

Now, it is not proposed that this association shall fix definite prices and terms for each class of implements, as these are matters to be left to the auxiliary associations of manufacturers of special implements, as provided for by a resolution of the association; neither is it the object of the association to adopt any measures detrimental to the best interests of dealers or consumers, but it is the special aim of the association to promote a friendly interchange of views among manufacturers that they may become better acquainted and inspire greater confidence in each other, and adopt such measures as may be for their mutual benefit and protection, as well as for the joint interests of dealers and farmers.

The fact is well known that while every other important business interest in our country has organized by the formation of associations the manufacturers of agricultural implements as a class have failed thus far to do so, until it has become apparent to all that the trade, owing to this lack of concert of action, has become, to a great extent, demoralized.

Notwithstanding the immense capital amounting to about eighty millions of dollars, invested in the implement business, with an annual production of from fifty to seventy-five millions, and a demand for their products that is wide-spread and constantly on the increase, manufacturers are compelled through this lack of organization, to give from year to year, longer time and higher commissions on their goods.

Each Implement used by the farmer has its particular season, and can be sold at no other time during the year. Manufacturers must therefore be content to turn their capital but once a year, even when they sell for cash, while the merchants who supply them with Iron, Steel, Lumber, Paints, and other materials, are able to make from four to six turns per annum.

Another serious drawback is the necessity of committing themselves to the manufacture of a whole season's stock several months before any sales can be made, and without being able to form a conjecture as to the quantity of goods their competitors in the same articles may be preparing to offer in the market, and with the contingency of crop failures always staring them in the face, and liable to curtail and in many cases entirely to prevent sales after their whole investment has been made.

These, with the additional facts that the farmer always receives cash on delivery for his productions, and the mechanic cash for his labor, lead to the conclusion that all farm machinery should be sold for cash, and that manufacturers should make common cause for the attainment of this object by joining the National Association, and immediately agreeing to approach a cash basis by selling all goods on shorter time than heretofore, and if necessary to curtail production until the supply shall only be equal to the cash or short time demand.

Many other important matters may properly be discussed and arranged at the meetings of the National Association, to the great advantage of the members; such as the employment of reliable attorneys for the collection of claims in the several states; the compilation of the usury, homestead and collection laws of each state for distribution to members; the compilation of statistics such as the quantities and values of implements produced, sold and consumed, from year to year, and the quantities and values of farm produce grown, consumed, and shipped in each state and county in the union.

In conclusion, we urge upon every manufacturer of farm implements the importance of lending his aid and countenance to the work which a few earnest and determined individuals have so well begun, remembering that "in union there is strength," and that although the subjects we have named may never be thought worthy of discussion before the association, the suggestions made may convince you that there are enough matters of common interest that may be discussed to the mutual advantage of farm implement manufacturers, to warrant a National organization for the purpose.

This address, in pamphlet form, together with a copy of the constitution and by-laws, will be mailed to all implement manufacturers whose address can be procured, by E. S. Holloway, Cor. Sec'y., Columbiana, Ohio.

Residents of each state and territory interested in the objects of the association are requested to send lists of all implement manufacturers within their knowledge, so that invitations may be sent them to attend the adjourned special meeting, to be held on the 14th of January, 1873, at the Weddell House, Cleveland, Ohio.

} Committee.

This week Mr Wm. Humberger goes east for the purpose of bringing back a supply of seasonable goods

A reliable authority on the horse says, that the prevailing distemper, now affecting so many in various places is indicated by what we call symptoms of a cold. The best treatment is to keep the horse warm—out of a current of air—don't work him at all—have the stable disinfected—warm, dry bedding of straw—give no medicines, unless by advice of competent veterinary physicians—and the animal will soon recover. The disease is not contagious, but is caused by atmospheric and other changes. Good treatment is considered better than drugs and nostrums.

It turns out that the Woodhull & Claflin Weekly, which recently came out, is considered entirely too severe and rough, so that the firm has been arrested on charges of slander and circulating obscene literature through the mails. If guilty of violating the law in these respects nobody should grieve if the penalty comes upon them. As the accused could not obtain bail they were placed in the N. Y. jail last Saturday. While these women are charged with outraging society by their representations, and are in a fair way to suffer the penalty, would it not be well to inquire whether they are sinners above others in the same direction? The parties who are so active in suppressing this weekly for its extravagant allegations might turn their attention to halt a dozen or more notoriously fancy papers, which are weekly emanating from the same city, and are carried by the U. S mails all over the country. Their slanders and obscenity are as well known as anything of that sort can be—and not only do they use types for this purpose but they are also freely illustrated. Perhaps they pitch into some obscure parties who are unable to defend themselves, while the case which has just awakened so much ire don't go for little fish, but is bent on whaling. That may make a difference. Punish Woodhull & Claflin if guilty, but don't let others equally guilty of the same offenses go unwhipt of justice.

Elsewhere in to-day's paper will be seen an address of unusual interest to the manufacturers of agricultural implements. The suggestions it contains are certainly worthy the attention of the enterprising gentlemen engaged in this useful and now indispensable branch of industry; and to the farmer it is full of interest. It is surprising to see the magnitude the business has attained: it is highly commendable and that these manufacturers have decided to organize so as to work together.

HALL OF SIPPO LODGE, No. 48, I. O. O. F.
Massillon, Ohio, Oct. 30th 1872

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God, our much beloved and esteemed brother, W. Ansel Stevens, has been removed by a premature death from his earthly home, and the companionship of the members of Sippo Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F. And

WHEREAS Our deceased brother had endeared himself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who mourn the loss they here sustained in his death, while they cherish a remembrance of the endearing associations of life, which clustered around his kind and generous heart, that always responded in acts of affection and kindness to the touch of suffering and want. Therefore,

Resolved, That we can only bow with humble submission to the Divine will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathise with the relations of the deceased brother in their sudden and sad bereavement, and mourn with them their irreparable loss.

Resolved, As a further expression of our sympathy and fraternal regard, that this report be spread upon the journal of our proceedings, and that a copy thereof, under seal of the Lodge, be presented to the relations of our departed brother.

Resolved, That the Hall of Sippo Lodge be draped, and the members wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women were especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In alls climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermine sthe bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving and Beautifying the Human Hair. To Prevent its Falling Out and Turning Gray.

A well preserved head of hair in a persons of middle age, at once bespeaks refinement, elegance, health and beauty. It may truly be called woman's crowning glory, while men are not insensible to its advantages and charms. Few things are more disgusting than thin, frizzly, harsh, untamed hair, with head and coat covered with dandruff. Visit a barber and you look and feel like a new man. This is what Lyon's Kathairon will do all the time. The charm which lies in well placed hair, glossy curls, luxuriant tresses, and a clean head, is noticeable and irresistable. Grand Gift Concert.
Postponed to December 7th, 1872.

The Second Grand Gift Concert in aid of the public library of Kentucky, announced for Sept 23, has been postponed to December 7, 1872, because the accumulation of orders the few days before the drawing made it impossible to fill them without a few days delay, and as a short postponement was inevitable, it was determined to defer it to a time that would make a full drawing sure by the sale of all the tickets.

The money necessary to pay in full all the offered gifts is now on deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, as will be seen by the following certificate of the cashier.

Farmers' and Drovers' Bank,
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26, 1872.

This is to certify that there is now on deposit in this bank over half a million of dollars to the credit of the Gift Concert fund $500,000 of which is held by this bank as treasurer of the public library of Kentucky to pay off all gifts to be awarded at the drawing S R VEACH, Cashier.

1,000 Prizes, amounting to

will be awarded, the highest prizes being $100,000, $50.000 $25,000, and down in regular gradation to $100 which is the lowest.

The drawing will positively and unequivocally take place December 7. Agents are pre-emptorily required to close sales and make returns Nov 25, in order to give ample time for the final arrangements Orders for tickets or applications for circulars should be addressed to

A CARD.—The public are hereby notified, that any sewing machine agent claiming to have taken all the premiums at the Massillon Fair, is making a false statement. Also, that the diplomas given for embroidery and braiding attachments, &c., were awarded without any competition whatever on our part, as there were no diplomas offered for anything of the kind. We propose to sell our machines by fair means only.

It is reported that a change of ownership is about to take place of the Fulton Times—or perhaps a new paper may soon be started—by a Mr. McDonald, late of Canfield, Mahoning county.

We are informed that the lodges of Good Templars are prospering and increasing in the number of their members at many places. This is a gratifying sign of the times and indicates that even the great political whirlwind which lately stirred up things all over the country, did not blow out of existence the principles of temperance. Here the lodge is getting along slowly, but its members hope for a revival.

As the season for mite societies has opened propitiously here, the prospect is, that they will be well patronized. That one on Tuesday evening of last week, which was held at the Methodist parsonage, was well attended, the receipts liberal—and the ladies having the management made it a most agreeable surprise by turning over the sum collected to their pastor—something wholly unexpected by Mr. Hingeley. It s another evidence that women can keep their own counsels when they try.

Slight changes were made in the time table on the railroads which commenced on Monday the 27th ult. It is probable that other alterations will be made in a few days, before a permanent arrangement is decided on.

A much more than usual demand has been made for the Independent during the last few days, so that our supply gave out, and a number of applicants could not be supplied To avoid such a contingency hereafter it will be well to subscribe for the paper, and then be sure to have one every week. Try it and see.

During the recent vigorous campaign scarcely a paper could be found which was not more or less filled with political matters. Editors generally think they can write up politics if they can't discuss anything else. When we have no politics to stir them up many of these papers are as tame as an old goose.

THE MAMMOTH APPLE.—We received of C W Kline a specimen of the apples that grow on the farm of J R Essig, in Jackson township, which measures 18 inches in circumference and weighs 1¼ pounds. He has an orchard of 107 trees, and it is supposed they average 25 bushels of apples to each tree, which would amount to 2,675 bushels, and in this orchard grows 27 varieties, all of the choicest fruit. Now, who can beat this?

The national executive committee of the Y M C A located at Boston, recommend that the second Sunday of this month (10th) be a day of special prayer in all the churches in behalf of these associations.

FIRES.—Last Wednesday afternoon the cry of fire was raised in consequence of a small blaze being discovered on the roof of Madison Hall, but the fire was timely put out by a pail of water. About 12 o'clock on Friday night another alarm was raised, which was caused by a frame house being on fire in the southeast part of town. The building was unoccupied, and was the property of Mr McClymonds—supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, and was partially destroyed. The fire companies were promptly on hand in both cases.

Within the last two weeks our local court, over which Esquire Warner presides, has been engaged in hearing and investigating charges of crime, such as riot, larceny, attempted robbery, &c. Several of the parties have been bound over to have a hearing before the common pleas court—others were discharged. Messrs. Ulman & Porter appeared on behalf of the prosecution and H. H. Folger for the defense. It is said that some of the proceedings were lively.

A new grocery is about being opened, we are informed, in one of Mr Falke's rooms east of the park, by Thompson Bros., who have heretofore been doing business at the village of Youngstown. They expect to deal in butter, eggs, and cheese almost exclusively.

Another strike has just commenced by the miners of this vicinity, and it has broken out at other places. The workmen ask ten cents a ton in addition, to the dollar previously received, and in all probability they will get it. The Miner depreciates these strikes, and so do all parties, and wisely recommends that mine owners and leading operatives come together and deliberate as to what shall be done. Surely this is the best way to come to an understanding, and will tend to obviate these serious difficulties which have proved so detrimental to the laborer, the proprietor, and to community. There is a fair thing in this as in all other kinds of business, and let it be adopted.

Last Friday, McLain, Dangler & Co shipped for Boston about 6000 pounds of wool. This article comes to market here in limited quantities, and brings about 50 cts a pound.

Rumors are thick that our preachers are about to have a lively campaign of official business—pretty soon. The siege may open this week—who knows.

The N Y Manufacturing co., 21 Courtlandt street, N Y., have established an emporium of novelties and utilities for every day use. Agents, male and female, wanted everywhere see their advertisement in another column.

HURRAH FOR GRANT!

In this place the election passed off quietly. Republican gain in Perry township over late election, 51. Canton gained over 100—Alliance about 500 republican majority. Ohio supposed to be for Grant 30,000 to 60,000 majority.

Despatches coming from many of the states indicate that Grant has been re-elected by a huge majority. Unprecedented majorities are reported from many places—but we cannot give particulars now. As is often said, glory enough for one day.

All members of Eureka Encampment are requested to meet at their hall on Friday evening, 15th as business of importance is to be transacted. By order.

Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly published at New York by Mrs. Woodhull & Co., for some reason was suspended a few months ago. The paper is revived, and first number is full of lightenings, thunders, earthquakes and tornadoes, figuratively speaking, on moral questions. It has created considerable sensation, for whether Mrs. W., the editor is right o wrong, she has a very decided way of expressing herself, & especially on social questions. Our exchanges are furious because she takes great liberties in referring to the social relations of two among the distinguished men with certain women of that city. Names are given, incidents detailed, and a long array of particulars noted, without the least indication of fear as to results. If the representations she makes have a shadow of truth, and it they are uncontradicted by the parties charged, it looks as if this might be the beginning of a social revolution which may lend to convulse society, for the writer denounces the marriage relation, as practiced in our own and other countries, as a monstrosity which needs reform. Such as are curious to see the particulars can be gratified by procuring a copy of the paper before named. Its reading will open some people's eyes.

Harper's Magazine for November completes another volume of that choice monthly, and there is no discount on its deservedly high reputation. So well and so favorably known in our own as well as other countries, this monthly is sought for wherever the English language is read, and if printed in German many more thousands of its issues would be sought for by the intelligent and cultured people of many of the German nationalities of Europe.

The Schoolday Visitor for this month is rich and replete with that style of reading so much sought for by hundreds of thousands of youths in our country. J. W. Daughaday & Co., publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Wm. McClymonds, cashier of the Union National Bank, has greatly improved that building on the corner of Main and East streets, so that it will be a most pleasant residence, and the surroundings have been beautified, so that few places in the city present more charming features. From a plain one story house it has been altered to two stories, and no doubt all the conveniences of a first class dwelling are introduced so as to render the place a very desirable one for a family. So attractive a place cannot be long unoccupied.

Among those who haul coal we may say that R. A. Pinn is prepared to wait on calls of this class to which he will promptly respond.

E. D. McClymonds, Esq., recently purchased the frame building on Factory street which was occupied as a candy factory, and has had it removed to Erie street, next door to the new candy factory, and will have it fixed up for an office.

Lots are valuable in some parts of town when they bring $35 to $50 a foot front.

By accounts in our exchanges we notice that immense rains have fallen in Italy, which have caused disastrous floods, resulting in the loss of millions of property and many lives, while here we have been having it comparatively dry. England and Scotland have also been terribly soaked with rains, so that much grain has been lost

Bro. Holloway, editor of the Columbiana Register, made this place a visit on business one day last week, and was so engaged that he had not time to give us a call.

Our streets seemed to be well crowded with people last Friday and Saturday, and business must have been good with all classes of persons in public life.

At the editorial convention held at Warren in May last it was decided to hold a semi-annual meeting at Salem sometime during the present month. We presume that the committee having this business in charge will carry it out—blow the horn, and let us know when to meet.

The Miner's Journal, lately published at Hubbard, Trumbull county, and the Courier of Youngstown are united and called the Miner and Manufacturer—Mr Fassett editor, and Mr Olney manager It will prove an efficient organ for the great interests it represents, for Mr. Fassett is an experienced worker.

Bells—bells—bells—sung the great poet, E. A. Poe, in one of his finest inspirations. On this idea we make mention that Brother Buehl, for causes deemed sufficient has had traded off the three bells which have resounded from the tall steeple of St Paul's Lutheran church of this place, for three new ones, and since their introduction much industry has been manifested in causing their tongues to wag, both day and night so that saints as well as sinners have a poor chance of sleeping late on Sunday mornings.

George E. Crowell of Brattleboro, Vt, continues to send out that model monthly, the Household. Devoted to the interest of the American housewife, it is the embodiment of a vast amount of instruction about everything pertaining to household affairs In addition to this there is a large amount of miscellaneous reading of an elevating character.

DR. CARPENTER,
136 Mulberry street, Newark, N. J.,
Is now treating successfully CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, with his Compound Medicated Inhalations, Concentrated Food and Cough Syrup.

During the past ten years Dr. Carpenter has treated and cured thousands of cases of the above named diseases, and has now in his possession certificates of cures from every part of the country. The inhalation is breathed directly into the lungs, soothing and healing over all inflamed surfaces, entering into the blood, it imparts vitality as it permeates to every part of the system. The sensation is not unpleasant, and the first inhalation often gives very decided relief, particularly when there is much difficulty of breathing. Under the influence of my remedies, the cough soon grows easier, the night sweats cease, the hectic flush vanishes, and with improving digestion the patient rapidly gains strength, and health is again within his grasp.

The concentrated food rapidly builds up the most debilitated patient, presenting to the stomach food all ready to be assimilated and made into good, rich, healthy blood

The cough syrup is to be taken at night to alleviate the cough and enable the patient to obtain sleep. Full directions accompany each box of my remedies, which consists of

One Inhaler, one bottle of Alterative Inhalant, one bottle of Soothing Febrifuge Inhalant, one bottle of Anti-Hæmorragic Inhalant, one bottle of Concentrated Food, and one bottle Cough Syrup.

Price of box containing remedies to last one month, $10; two months 18 three months 25.

Sent to any address C O D. Pamphlets containing large list of patients cured sent free. Letters of inquiry must contain one dollar to insure answer. Address,
A H CARPENTER, Newark, N J.

Dr Carpenter's Catarrh Remedy will give immediate relief, and will effect a permanent cure in from one to three months. Price of remedy to last one month $5; two months, 8; three months, 10.

Cancer in all its forms successfully treated. Send for list of patients cured, to Sporting Goods of all kinds kept at Kelley & Brown's.

The Warning has been Heeded.

Since the exposure of the attempts made by certain unscrupulous dealers, to palm off their coarse astringents, made from cheap and impure materials, in the place of the great national tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, public opinion has set strongly against these empirics and their preparations. Their occupation is gone, or soon will be. When the light is let into deception it soon wilts down. Persons who trifle with their own health by using unknown preparations, with no guarantee to sustain them, when an established specific, proven by twenty years experience to be exactly what it is claimed to be, is within their reach, are sure to repent their temerity. Many have done so in this instance, but is hoped that the truth plainly spoken has arrested the evil. In the meantime the demand for the leading protective and restorative medicine of America was never so great as it has been this season. From the fever and ague districts of the west southwest, and south, it is literally overwhelming, and it may be said of the advices from all parts of the country of the cures it is effecting in dispepsia, bilious complaint, and chronic constipation, and their name is legion. Everywhere the sick and feeble seem to have realized the importance of holding fast that which is good, and of avoiding what is spurious and dangerous.

The numerous bitters, under various names, which mercenary dealers endeavor to substitute for Hostetter's stomach bitters, should be avoided, for their own sakes, by the sick and the public at large. Hostetter's Bitters are procurable in bottles only, and never sold in bulk.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Before the discovery of America, it is said that money was so scarce that the price of a day's work was fixed by the British parliament, in 1351, at one penny a day; and in 1414 the allowance of the chaplain to the Scotch bishops (then in prison in England) was three half pence per day. At that time twenty four eggs were sold for a penny, a pair of shoes for four pence, a fat goose for two and a half pence, a hen for a penny, wheat three pence per bushel, and a fat ox for six shillings and eight pence. So that in those days, a day's work would buy a hen or two dozen eggs; four days work would buy a pair of shoes. On the whole, human labor brought on an average, about half as much food and perhaps one-fourth as much cloth or clothing as it does now. These are encouraging facts for labor reformers.

Beautiful Women.—The hair is the crowning glory of woman. There are few minor and defects which cannot be remedied by the proper disposition of the tresses. But when the hair begins to fall out, or turn gray, in young people, or with those in the prime of life, there is cause for real regret. When this is the case, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer will be found to be a first class remedy, the superior, as a tonic medical medium, to anything ever before the public. It actually restores gray hair to its original color, and is the great moisture that causes it to grow again when it is becoming thin. It is not like many popular preparations, a mere wash, but a scientific discovery, indorsed and used by physicians of character. Address R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

All persons who aspire to personal beauty should not neglect that natural accessory, rich hair. By its use it has been sought to restore the hair has become thin, gray, or entirely taken out. Messrs. Hall & Co., Nashua, N H have produced an effectual remedy, called Sicilian Hair Renewer, which cures all diseases of the scalp. This wonderful preparation acts on the glands, which supply nourishment to the hair, restores gray hair to its original color makes the scalp white and clean, removes dandruff, prevents the formation of scurf and all cutaneous eruptions; and by its tonic and invigorating properties, restores the scalp to a healthy state, and creates new growth. As a dressing it is unsurpassed giving the hair that brilliancy so much admired by all.—Boston Commercial.

Mixed Distinction.—Two well known Grand Junction, on the great thoroughfare of the northern lines to Boston, has vowed to be. With a large and increasing population, proud as well as prosperous, its citizens in town meeting assembled, have voted to change the name of their town to Ayer—all from motives known men in America, Dr. J C Ayer of Lowell—and the legislature of Massachusetts has endorsed that decision by law. We cannot but admire their choice, for not only is the name short and distinctive, but Dr. Ayer's medicines have made it gratefully known to the ends of the earth. Probably no living man has done relief to such countless numbers of the sick as he, this high honor, from his neighbors, is the estimation in which he is held by those who know him.—Boston Times.

Loose Bowels.—Those outward manifestations of the cold parting breath are easily detected; in truth, outward signs are often marks of an inward disease; the pale face, the listless visage, the sunken and blue cheek, with now and again the circumscribed flush, which, whilst it may not, like Dutton Cheese face, denote anger, it does denote something lacking harmony in the two kings of the constitution. If you quickly, do your ear catch the irregular pulsations of the pendulum of the clock, watch in case something wrong in the internal workings, and how vastly more certain and infinitely more important, is the small beat of the heart, or the gurgling sound of the lungs, in warning us of the future perfect action of these organs in the human economies. When to this is added the cough, the pains in the chest, the deathly hectic flush of the lips to the face, or fever at the night sweats, what more can be wanting to impress us of approaching danger. Take Dr Ransom's Lung cure Remedy, the great mother of the whites of America and Europe, they involve no longer in ignorance that beautiful harmony of body in which the God or nature meant for it should be. Sold at $1 50 per bottle, four bottles $5, at 157 Liberty st, Pittsburgh, Pa.

It contains a powerful vegetable tonic which gives immediate relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, one which from continued use brings piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the nerves, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of bitters is so extensively polluted off on the public as sovereign remedies, but is a most powerful tonic and alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, felons, blotches, pustules, canker, &c.

Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a dyspeptic stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system in debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or hysterics.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diarrhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations

Have you weakness of the Uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instantly relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

The Great Cause

Of Human Misery.

Just published, in a sealed envelope. Price six cents. A lecture on the nature, treatment and radical cure of spermatorrhœa, or seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, physical and mental incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc; also consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

A New Churn to be found at Kelley & Brown's.

This Cut illustrates the manner of Using

DR. PIERCE'S

OR

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

It is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chamber's or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to those cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. In using this instrument, the Fluid is carried by its own weight (no snuffing, forcing or pumping being required,) up one nostril and, if held gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly cleanses all the tubes and chambers connected therewith, and flows out of the opposite nostril. Its use is pleasant and so simple that a child could understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications.

Symptoms of Catarrh. Frequent head-ache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucus, purulent, offensive, &c. In others a dryness, dizzy, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, stopping up of obstruction of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, &c. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease, and the proprietor offers, in good faith, $500 reward for a case he cannot cure. The Remedy is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents. Douche at 60 cents, by all Druggists, or either will be mailed by proprietor on receipt of 60 cents.

Ayer's

Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders,

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken-down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will present the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man his own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

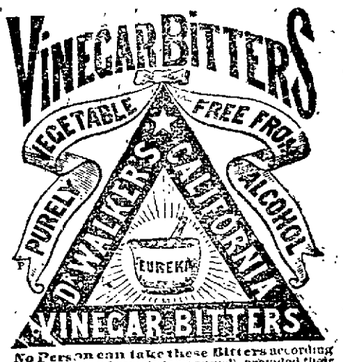
VINEGAR BITTERS



No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the turn of life or womanhood, or the critical period of change, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the power of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils,
